Our aim is to offer more transformational bursaries, making the unreachable reachable.

HEREFORDCS.COM/REACH-OUT

Hereford Cathedral School was founded in 1384 as a school for choristers. Since then, it has changed and grown to over 700 pupils, and we continue to strive to welcome pupils from a broad range of social backgrounds.

Every year, we offer fee support to a number of pupils, but with our limited resources, there are many more that we have to turn away. Bright, talented children from less privileged backgrounds who would undoubtedly benefit from all the School offers and who would give so much back.

In the past, the government funded Direct Grants and later Assisted Places, which in the 1990s provided support for 40% of our pupils. Such schemes no longer exist.

You, our alumni, have helped us raise £150,000 so far and this is already contributing to bursary places, for which we thank you. Our aim now is to build on that figure, enabling HCS to provide not just more bursary places but to offer 100% of fees to some low-income families, plus a little extra to help with lunches, uniform, music tuition and perhaps even a school trip, making the whole HCS experience truly reachable.

Please help us to transform more futures.

Paul Smith, Headmaster

Hereford Cathedral School would not be the exceptional institution it is today without the support of our alumni and friends.

Pave the way for the next generation

"My time at Hereford Cathedral School was one of the happiest of my life. I wanted to be able to reach out and give something back to the School and its next generations. Giving to the Bursary Fund seems like the most rewarding way to do that."

LIVI VAN WARMELO

OLD HEREFORDIAN 2011-18
SECOND YEAR, ST ANNE'S COLLEGE, OXFORD

My life changed the moment I was granted 100% fee support.

I joined Hereford Cathedral School in Year 7 and there have been so many opportunities, not just in music, but academically and emotionally. I have grown and developed and found myself doing things far outside my comfort zone.

My Mum says that the moment I stepped through the doors of the School, something opened in me. I think it gave me the opportunity to reach out and grasp things I would never have thought of, like going to Oxford to read Music. My time at HCS has meant everything to me.

APPLYING TO READ ECONOMICS

When I was offered a bursary, I was ecstatic. I felt like I had been welcomed into a family and that feeling has never gone away.

I joined Hereford Cathedral School in the Sixth Form from a local state school. As a rugby player, I knew many of the pupils at HCS and always envied the opportunities – both sporting and academic – that they had.

For me, bursary support is so important. It opens up opportunities for pupils that wouldn't otherwise be there, and brings variety to the school community.

FINE ART AT UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD

My time at Hereford Cathedral School was very special and had a significant impact on my life.

My Sixth Form experience at HCS gave me the drive and determination that enabled me to pursue an academic career reading Fine Art at Oxford, which was my passion. It also gave me the skills and strength to operate in a number of diverse environments in my career, including the National Trust, Gloucester Cathedral and now as a Site Manager for Kier Construction.

None of this would have been possible without the full fee support I was awarded, and for which I am so grateful.

OLD HEREFORDIAN 1969-76,
RETIRED TEACHER

Hereford Cathedral School made so many things possible for me. I could never have attended without financial assistance.

During my time at HCS, I mixed with different people and was taught by a great body of teachers. The experience lifted my aspirations. I was the first in my family to go to university, and when I returned to HCS as a teacher, I strove to give something back. Offering a place to a child whose family do not have the means to afford the fees, gives them the opportunity to be transformed by an HCS education. What could be better?

Reach out and help transform lives

An education at Hereford Cathedral School means that a pupil's pivotal years are spent developing confidence and character. The School's exemplary teaching practices and first-class extra-curricular programme offer a truly enriching experience; one that we hope to offer to even more youngsters who would otherwise miss out.

A gift from you, no matter what size, can help change a life and enable a young person to reach their full potential.

Since 2017, Hereford Cathedral School has been unable to support 50% of bursary applicants.

If 20 people donated per month for a year*, this would provide one 100% bursary place for a year

*plus Gift Aid

Academically, our bursary holders excel, typically achieving 70% A*-B grades in their A-Levels.

An investment of would generate £14,000 per annum – enough to fund one bursary place forever

An enduring Bursary Fund will enable talented children to attend HCS, regardless of financial circumstances.

HOW FAR YOUR MONEY GOES

REGULAR GIFTS

A regular contribution to the Bursary Fund, however small, can have a significant impact over time. You can control the amount and frequency of any regular gift and make changes according to your circumstances.

SINGLE GIFTS

We always welcome single donations and all gifts will be gratefully received into the Bursary Fund.

LEGACIES

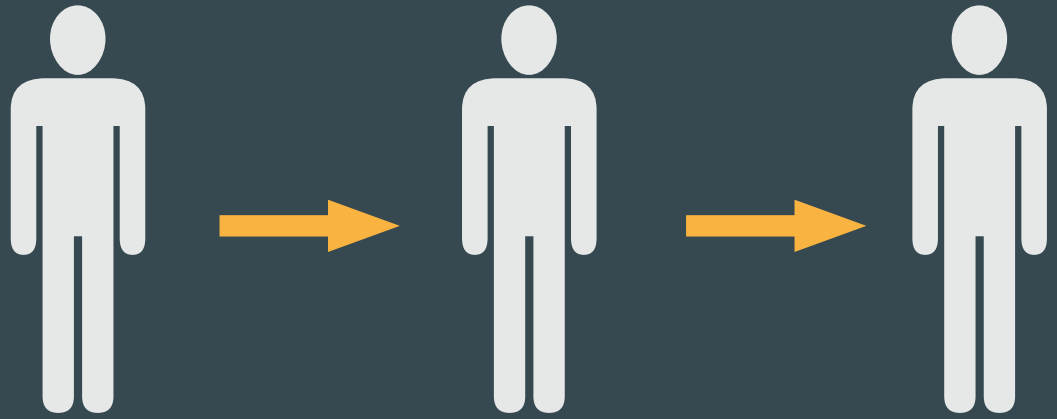

We appreciate that not everyone is able to donate to the Bursary Fund in their lifetime. Leaving a bequest in your will, whatever the size, enables us to build our Bursary Fund and make an HCS education possible for future generations. Leaving a bequest in your will could reduce the taxable value of your estate.

TAX-EFFICIENT WAYS OF GIVING

In addition to Gift Aid, there are a number of payroll, company matched giving schemes which would enhance any donation you might like to make. If you would like to discuss tax-efficient giving, gifts of shares or property, or other areas of giving, please contact the Development Team on 01432 363590.

The Bursary Fund is protected and can only be spent or invested for the specific purpose of bursaries. All our bursary recipient families undergo stringent means and asset testing which is reviewed annually.
